When it comes to the wondrous world of home design, few opportunities excite us more than the prospect of building from the ground up. But where to begin? Luckily, we've done that research for you: Packed with 68 of our favorite local designers, builders, shops, and more, here's everything (and everyone) you need to know to build—or remodel—the home you've always wanted.

Architects & Designers

TRADITIONAL ARCHITECT Catalano Architects

Leave it to Catalano Architects to perfect the art of timeless design. Eschewing the culture of sameness that seems to pervade American architecture (looking at you, McMansions), principal Thomas Catalano expertly executes traditional beauty in both his classic renovations and newly built single-family homes. Take, for example, a manor in Weston, where Catalano's use of materials—including Wissahickon schist, Vermont slate, copper, and sustainably harvested wood—results in a stunning display that will dazzle visitors for years to come.
